

Cookie Policy

WHAT IS A COOKIE?

A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers placed by a website on your local computer. These cookies allow us to distinguish you from other unique users of our website, which helps us to provide you with a better experience when you browse our site. The cookies we use are session cookies and analytical cookies.

ANALYTICAL COOKIES

This type of cookie allows us to recognise and count the number of visitors to our site and to see how visitors move around our website when they are using it. This helps us to improve the way our website works, for example by ensuring that users are finding what they are looking for easily.

SESSION COOKIES

These cookies allow us to ensure that our site functions correctly and operates efficiently when you use it. Session cookies expire once you have closed our website and are not stored once your visit has ended, they are generally not considered to be invasive of your privacy.

PREVENTING THE USE OF COOKIES

It is possible to stop your browser and/or mobile device accepting cookies either generally or from specific websites. However, you may find that some aspects of our website stop working or work less well if you do this. For this reason, we do not recommend turning cookies off when using our website.

All modern browsers allow you to change your cookie settings. These settings will typically be found in the 'options' or 'preferences' menu of your browser. In order to understand these settings, you should use the 'Help' option in your browser for more details.

To find out more about cookies, including how to see what cookies have been set and how to manage and delete them, visit www.allaboutcookies.org.

If you have any further questions about the use of cookies on our website, please do not hesitate to contact us.